UWA / NEDLANDS - Public Transport Information

How do you get around?
Most people use the car. A travel survey of residents in the Perth metropolitan area found that 80% of trips were by car and most were by the driver alone. There are travel alternatives available in your local area and many good reasons to use them. By walking, cycling or using public transport you can reduce car trips and so:

- reduce local traffic
- reduce air pollution and greenhouse gas emissions
- improve your health through physical activity
- reduce your travel costs

Wherever you are going, consider your options - that is what being TravelSmart is all about.

Public Transport
Public transport is a quick and convenient option for many trips; in fact 30% of trips to the University of Western Australia are made this way.

Instead of being stuck in traffic, try the bus or train. You can sit back and relax, save on car running and parking costs and avoid the hassles of driving. Try public transport for some of your shopping trips or to get to sporting events, concerts or other attractions.

Public transport hints:

- Phone Transperth on 13 62 13 or go online at www.transperth.wa.gov.au to check out bus and train services you could use. Timetables and guides to Transperth services are available at all Transperth InfoCentres, Council offices and libraries.
- Buy a MultiRider and you can save 15% to 25% on cash fares when you use public transport. MultiRiders are available from many newsagents and Transperth InfoCentres. SmartRider cards will replace MultiRiders in 2006.
- All buses on routes 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 97, 98, 99, 102, 103, 107 are wheelchair accessible.
- Subiaco, Shenton Park and Showgrounds (special events) train stations are also fully accessible.
- If you want to catch a bus, remember to hail it at a bus stop.
